Summary

B2B marketer and writer with 10 years across content, email, and demand generation. English degree, a published demand gen framework, and a track record of turning call transcripts, client data and customer feedback into clear content people act on. Uses AI as a system, with Claude connected to Fathom, Canva, Google Drive and more, to pull insights and move faster, while keeping the writing human.

Selected Work

From Episode to Inbox melissa-rodier.github.io/episode-to-inbox · Sample project, 2026

- Turned a 45-minute episode of The Dave Gerhardt Show into a newsletter in Dave's voice, with a walkthrough of every step: voice analysis, angle selection, first draft vs. AI-edited version, email HTML and distribution
- Reviewed the Exit Five newsletter archive to avoid repeating covered topics, and linked back to a past issue instead
- Built "50 or 50,000?", a 7-round game that turns the newsletter's argument into shareable content for email and LinkedIn

Survive My Week melissa-rodier.github.io/survive-my-week-portfolio

- Five mini-games built from real client work across paid media, email, partnerships and client success, each ending with what actually happened
- Built and published with AI as playable, story-driven portfolio pieces

Experience

beMarketing Solutions Sept 2025 to Present · Plymouth Meeting, PA
Senior Account Manager

- Wrote and launched a partner referral email program for an HR technology consulting firm, with copy by audience and every email sent from the person who held the relationship: 39.7% open rate, 6.35% click rate, 13 meetings booked (6.8% of the list)
- Built an AI-assisted workflow with Claude connected to Fathom, Gmail, ClickUp and Google Drive that turns call transcripts and account history into structured call guides; verify AI summaries against full transcripts before anything reaches a client
- Write client-facing reports, recaps and recommendations for a book of 25+ brands with $1.5M+ in annual ad spend, translating performance data into plain language
- Coordinate paid media, SEO, content and web specialists to keep multi-channel campaigns on schedule
